The Carmel Pine Cone

Editor's Column

The treeless state of Dolores Street between Ocean and Seventh avenues bothered Mayor Herbert Blanks last week. But he is not the first city official to lament about this desert situation. A quarter of a century ago another city official looked out of the windows of city hall, then situated in this block, and lamented over the lack of trees.

Last week, the city council decided to keep the two black acacias which still stand in front of the building which at one time housed Carmel's city hall upstairs and the post office downstairs.

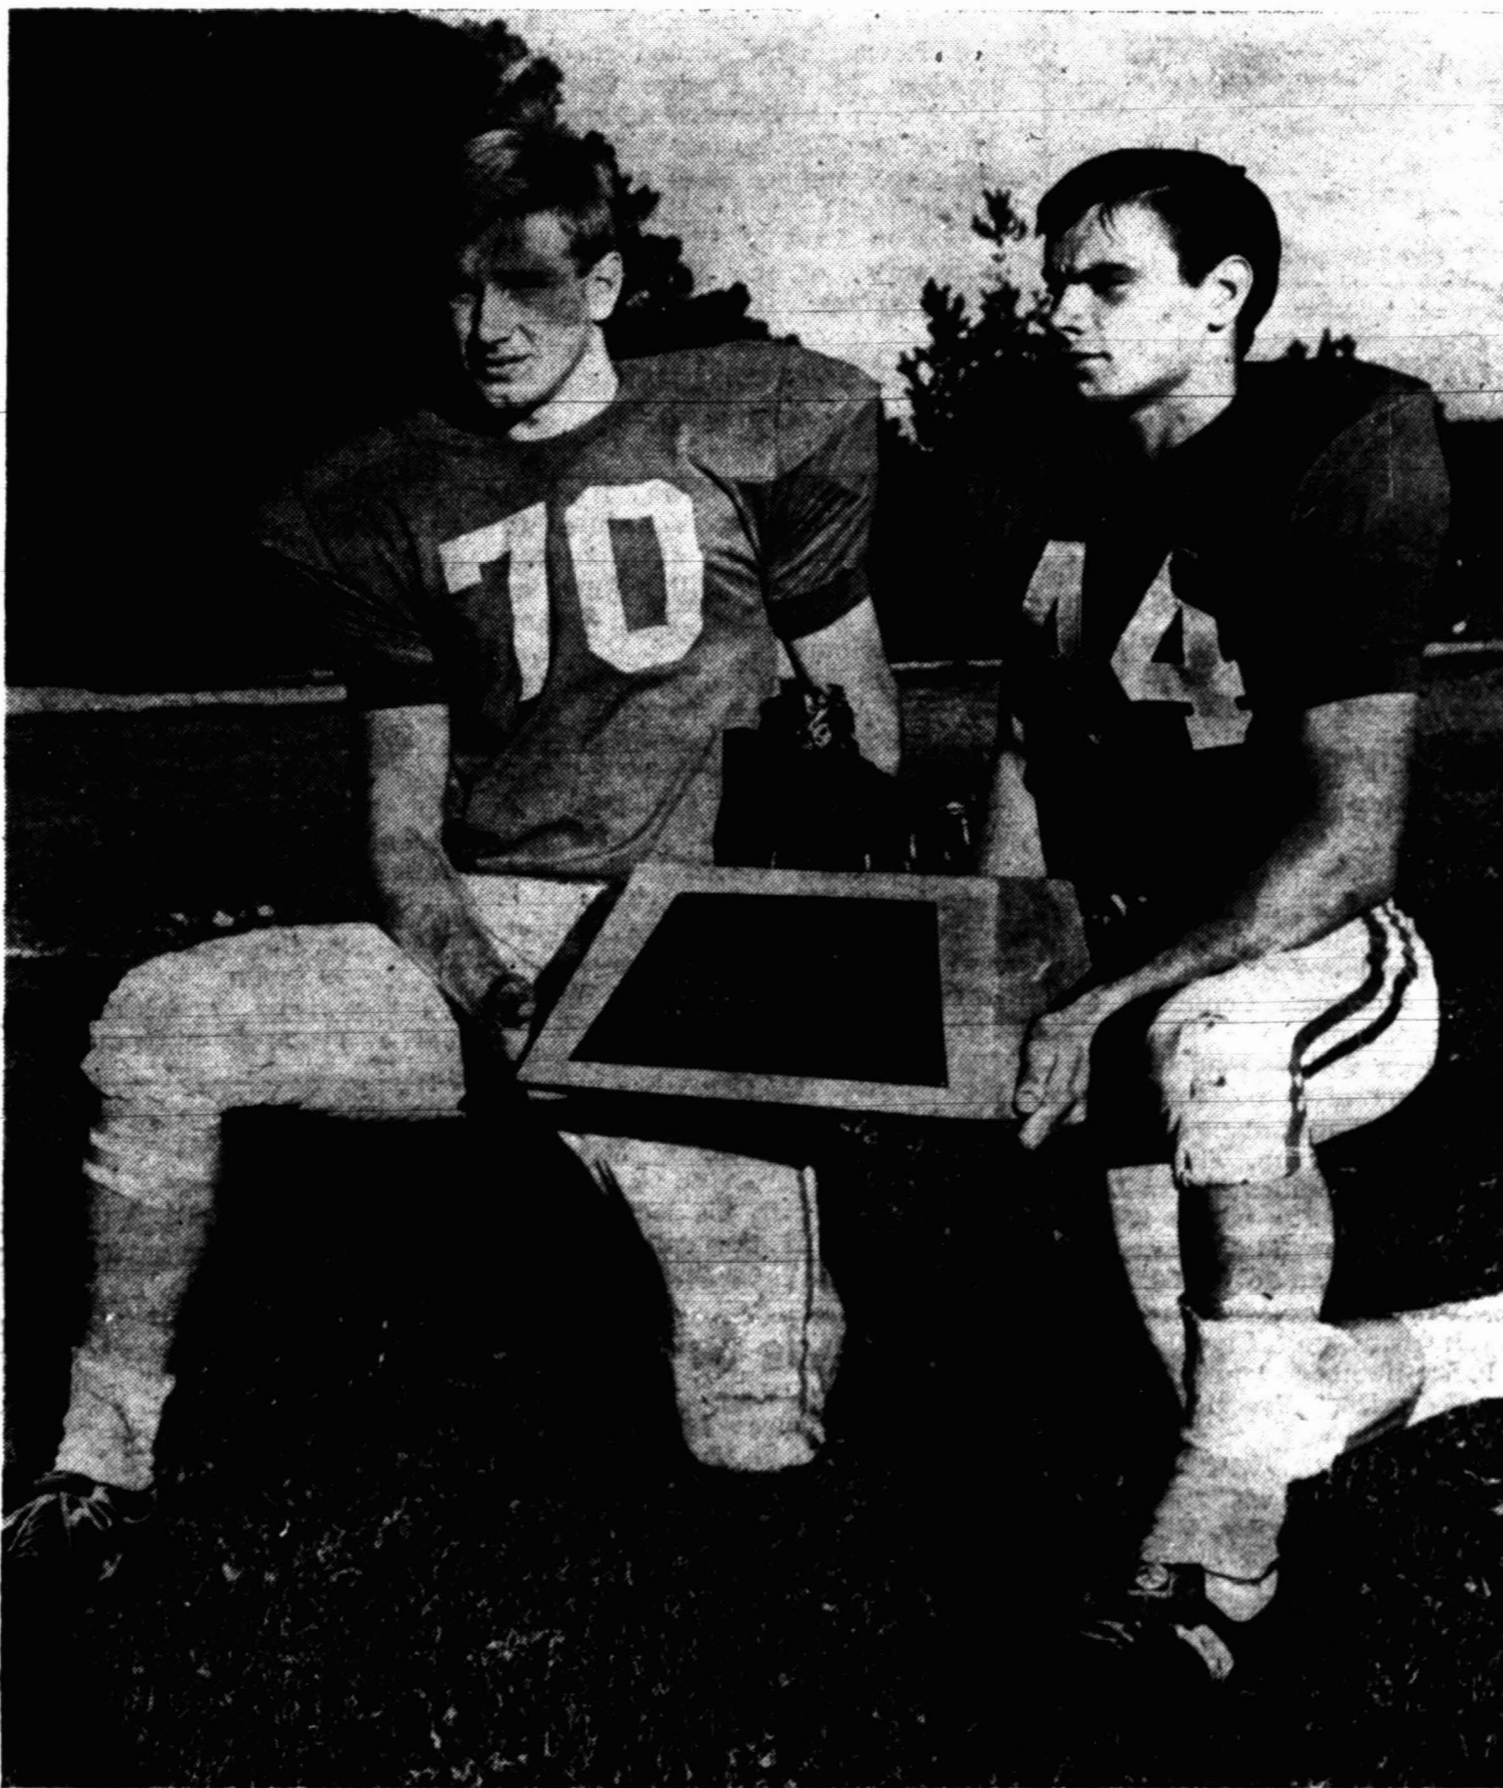

From the city hall, Saidee van Brower, city clerk from 1917-1943, deplored the fact that those two acacia trees blocked her view. She was more mournful of the fact that she could see no pines on the opposite side of the street—because there weren't any—and pine trees were one of the loves of her life.

During her 22 years' tenure of the city clerkship of Carmel, Saidee, a frail, grey-haired lady who had lived in Carmel since 1907, fought to save Carmel's trees. She died in March of 1943 and shortly after her death a pine was planted, in her memory, across the street from the old city hall.

The Saidee van Brower pine still stands in front of the Studio Theatre which at that time housed the Pine Cone. But Mayor Blanks noted that it had fought a hard battle to survive. Valiantly this pine has wreathed its branches around an unsightly utility pole. The pole has caused it to be cut back and otherwise mutilated, and until recently when three younger pines were planted to the south, the Saidee van Brower pine was the only tree on that side of the block.

Saidee had an indomitable spirit which would not allow her to desert the city clerk's office because of illness until, on doctor's orders, members of the Carmel fire department took her in the Red Cross ambulance from her "BEAT P.G.!" will be the cry from the Carmel stands tomorrow night when Co-captains Doug Adams and Tim Hall, above, lead the Carmel High School varsity football team onto the field in the Pacific Grove stadium at 8:30 p.m. to compete in an almost quarter-century rivalry. During the years Carmel and Pacific Grove high schools have been playing one another, Carmel has won 15 games, Pacific Grove, seven, and there have been two tied games.

Princess Margaret Says She Will Recall Always Our Coastline And Trees

In a letter received on Monday, Princess Margaret of Great Britain thanked her luncheon host of Saturday, Stuyvesant Fish of Palo Corona Ranch, for the enjoyable hours she and her husband, Antony Armstrong-Jones, the Earl of Snowdon, spent here last weekend.

"The drive is something I shall always remember as being one of the most beautiful ones I have ever done," she said of her tour of Carmel and Pebble Beach, and praised the warm, sunny weather on the day of her visit.

Several times on the drive from the ranch south of Carmel, both Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon stopped to photograph the beauty of the Carmel area. They took away with them not only their own pictures but also "Not Man Alone," the Sierra Club volume containing photographs of the Sur Coast by local photographers and using the poetry of the late, Robinson Jeffers of Carmel Point as its text. The book was suitably inscribed by Ansel Adams of Carmel Highlands, famed photographer and conservationist, who took the book to Palo Corona Ranch on Friday evening. He was acting on behalf of the Sierra Club which presented "Not Man Alone" to Princess Margaret as a memento of her visit here.

Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon, escorted by Mr. Fish, visited Carmel Mission Basilica. They next stopped at the tip of Carmel Point where there is a sweeping view of Palo Corona Ranch and Point Lobos, then proceeded to the James E. van Loben Sels home at the south end of Carmel Beach. From there the cavalcade drove along Scenic Drive past the beach to San Antonio Street and the Seventeen Mile Drive entrance. Carmelites, singly and in clusters gathered to wave to the pretty princess and her charming husband as she drove along the streets of their town.

Before returning with Mr. Fish for tea at his ranch, the royal

It has reposed in the trophy case at Carmel High continuously since 1954. The bronzed foot gear once saw action on one of Lloyd Miller's feet. He is Carmel High School's athletic director.

Head coach of the Carmel varsity is Bob Walthour. Assistant coach is Buzz Rainer.

As they run on the field tomorrow night, the Carmel team will pass between rows of cheerleaders and songleaders. Tina Miller is head cheerleader. Helping her to urge Carmel to victory will be Terry Stegeman, Susie Springer and Colleen Coggins, with Kate Dalton as an alternate. Songleaders this year, led by Susie Draper, are Vikki Brinsmead, Sharon Smith, Toni Deck, Louise Woodward, Patsy Porter and Mar

School Board To End Bus Service To Remote Valley Area

The school bus run to the edge of the Greenfield school district in Upper Carmel Valley will be discontinued on December 18, the Carmel Unified School District Board of Education decided last night.

As the result of a Superior court decision, the board was forced to provide bus service for children living in this area. This decision was reversed in appellate court and is being appealed to the California Supreme Court by parents of the children involved.

Last night, on the advice of the Carmel district's lawyer for this litigation, Richard Perry of San Francisco, also on the advice of Monterey County Counsel William Stoffers, the decision to terminate the bus run, after Christmas vacation, was made and the parents of the children will be so informed.

Last night the board employed, for the remainder of this year, Mrs. Lorie Simmons, a Mount Holyoke College graduate who has been a substitute teacher in the Carmel High social science department for two years. She will replace Charles O. Moody who has received a state appointment. Her salary will be $5,400.

A River School teacher, Miss Mary Osborne was given a month's leave of absence next Spring to attend the ordination of her brother to the priesthood of the Roman Catholic Church in Fribourg, Switzerland.

The appointment of Dr. Daniel L. Gornel to be the district's physician was approved, and discussed, for adoption at the December 8 meeting of the board, was a requirement for an annual physical examination of all boys participating in inter-scholastic athletic competition.

Principal Orville Rogers of Middle School told the board that the need for additional teachers was the remedy for classes which are undesirably large at the intermediate school.

'Disenchanted' Students Neglected, Carmel High Principal Tells Trustees

The problem of the "disenchanted" student received considerable attention at last night's meeting of Carmel Unified School District trustees as the result of a report on the high school given by Principal Warren Edwards.

"Education is providing something for everybody," Mr. Edwards declared and added that Carmel High School, at present, is falling short of this goal.

"There is a group of students we are not reaching," he said, and pointed out that these students do not fit into the academic instructional system of the high school. Consequently, they are faced with conforming to the system or dropping out, which one percent of Carmel High School students do.

"I need help from people with vision, with new ways to reach disenchanting students, with fresh aims, ideas, and teaching methods, courses," he urged.

The closest the high school comes to reaching these students who are boys is in the athletic program, Mr. Edwards reported. A strong athletic program kept more boys in school, he emphasized.

A remedy for the problem of the disenchanting student, he suggested, was that the board of education consider relaxing cred-entiaing requirements to allow the employment of persons with "skills, experience and training, for example, in the field of business."

"We need someone with real experience in a variety of positions over many years, also money to seek out these kinds of people. We need some daring to unshackle us," was his plea to the board.

Trustee Dr. Hilton Bialek observed that disenchanting students are not an homogenous group, but represent individual personality problems, also some of them do not have, and never will have, the requirements to become part of an academic program. He observed that a great deal of time is needed to understand each of the individuals in the disenchanting group in order to help them

MPC Flying Group To Stage Airdrop

"The Flying Lobos are taking to the air tomorrow for Operation Airdrop," Blair Camp of Pebble Beach, president of the flying club at Monterey Peninsula College, announces.

The drop will be made on campus as part of homecoming week festivities. Plane maneuvers will begin at 11:30 a.m. The ground-air inter-communication will be broadcast over the public address system and, at 11:50 a.m., the drop will be made—1,000 ping-pong balls.

"Pick them up—if yours bears the lucky number—you will win a valuable prize," President Camp says.

All Flying Lobos will be "suited up" including helmets, and in the area, to aid and assist. Vice-President Leon Moors of Carmel will man the PA system.

The purpose of Operation Airdrop goes beyond Homecoming Week itself, during which the Flying Lobos are supporting one of the nine charming candidates for queen. It is, in fact, the kickoff for a long program of events.

"The Flying Lobos," Blair Camp relates, "started out as a small group of students at Monterey Peninsula College in 1958. They obtained a State of California charter as a non-profit organization—Flying Lobos Inc. In 1960, a lot of hard work accomplished the purchase of a Cessna 140. After two years, the craft was relinquished. There were many problems, largely financial."

"We feel 1965 is our year," Blair continued. "Our instructor, Bernard Revor, who piloted medium bombers in the Pacific Theater, is all with us. We need an aircraft of our own, air-rentals being what they are, and we shall work hard for it."

Sharon Law of Carmel also is a member of the MPC students flying group.

Noted Semanticist To Lecture At MPC

Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, noted semanticist who was scheduled to speak December 10 at Monterey Peninsula College, will lecture instead on December 3 at 8 p.m. in the Armory.

Dr. Hayakawa has been invited by the Air Force to take part in a United States-sponsored program in Japan the week of December 10. He will also take the opportunity while in Japan to visit his parents, whom he has not seen in the 12 years.

Author of "Language in Action" and a professor of language arts at San Francisco State College, Dr. Hayakawa will be the third speaker in MPC's "Roots of Prejudice" series. His December 3 topic has been announced as "Problems of Self-Concept Among Minority Groups."

Free tickets to his lecture will be available at the college from November 29.

W. Davis Braly

Funeral services for W. Davis Braly were held Tuesday afternoon in the Paul Funeral Chapel, with Dr. George Hunter Hall of the Carmel Presbyterian Church officiating. Mr. Braly died in a local hospital Sunday after a brief illness.

Born March 14, 1914, in Nashville, Tennessee, he was a resident of Carmel for the past 38 years.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Katherine Braly of Carmel, with whom he made his home, and a sister, Mrs. William Gaston of Brazil. His father, the late Dr. Albert C. Braly, died in 1961.

Private inurnment took place in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove.

Lutheran Church To Hold First Service On Sunday Morning

At 10 o'clock this Sunday morning, the first worship service of the new St. Philip's Lutheran Church of Carmel will be held in the drama room of Carmel Middle School. The Reverend J. Bernhard Brethheim, pastor of the congregation which will be organized soon, will use as his first sermon theme, "Christ Builds His Church." Interested persons and guests are invited to be present.

The senior choir of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Salinas will assist with the service by providing an anthem and aiding with the singing of hymns and liturgy of the worship.

The service will be the first of a number of firsts for the new congregation. At 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday of next week, the first choir rehearsal will be held at the Carmel parsonage under the coordination of Robert Pearson.

A midweek service of prayer and fellowship will be announced soon. The first church school classes will be organized to begin on December 5 at 10:50 a.m. following worship services. The first Holy Communion service will be celebrated on January 2. Pastor Brethheim will choose a steering committee the first part of December to help with the new

PHYLLIS JERVEY

Beginning this week, Phyllis Jervey of Carmel, will write a column named Party Plans for the Pine Cone. Mrs. Jervey has written travel and hostess articles for Vogue, Good Housekeeping, House and Garden, Better Homes and Gardens and McCall's magazines. She also has written special features for the Washington Post and the American Automobile Association's magazine. She has been food and party editor of U.S. Lady, the Family Service Magazine for ten years and originated her specialized feature Menus of the Month.

Mrs. Jervey has known the Monterey Peninsula since she came to the Presidio of Monterey as the bride of the then Lieutenant Jervey, U.S. Cavalry. During World War II, she lived with her parents in Carmel while Colonel Jervey was overseas. She is now a permanent resident of Carmel.

Her father, William Ellis Pulliam, served with the U.S. State Department for 40 years and was Special Treaty Officer to the Dominican Republic for 20 years.

The French language comes easily to Mrs. Jervey as she was educated in Lausanne, Switzer-

We will use Carmel River crawfish, if possible. They are so sweet and fresh and such fun to net in the river's sheltered coves. Steam them in sauterne, peel and devein, leaving tails intact for easy handling as this is finger food de luxe. Marinate in a spicy French dressing consisting of olive oil, garlic white wine and tarragon red wine vinegar, onion salt, cracked Java pepper, paprika, crushed oregano, sweet basil and rosemary to taste.

Mrs. Jervey has been an active member of the Society of Women Geographers and the Newspaper Women's Club in Washington, D.C. where she owns a home in Georgetown.

Phyllis Jervey is the author of two popular cook books — "Rice and Spice" and "A World of Parties" published by Charles E. Tuttle. She is currently writing a third and also is busy on a juvenile story and a book about Switzerland.

The Pine Cone welcomes a weekly column by Phyllis Jervey. She is a cosmopolite, yet practical, with her suggestions for Party Plans.

Serve each well chilled and drained with small cocktail picks on the side for those too finicky to use fingers. Provide plenty of small paper serviettes.

These two Carmel hors d'oeuvres accompany the drinks on the patio or terrace, fog permitting.

The service will be buffet, the hot dishes kept piping hot in covered silver dishes over hot water, British breakfast style, in chafing dishes or on electric warmers.

BUCKINGHAM EGGS (Serves 12)

12 slices white bread; 1 tsp. salt; 4 tbsps. butter; ¼ tsp. pepper; 3 tbsps. anchovy paste; 3 tbsps. butter; 12 eggs; Worcestershire; 6 tbsps. grated cheese.

Remove crusts from bread and toast it. Butter and spread with anchovy paste. Beat eggs, add seasoning and scramble them in melted butter. Be sure to leave them underdone. Mound on toast and sprinkle with cheese. Use the Monterey Jack after it has hardened. Place in 450 F. oven for 5 minutes until cheese melts. Decorate with sprigs of Carmel River watercress.

For the Peninsula Salad combine bite-size pieces of red and butter lettuce, Carmel River watercress, thin slices of unpeeled tiny zucchini and raw Carmel Valley mushroom slices. Peel seedless finger-size avocados and slice crosswise. Mix lightly with a simple olive oil-wine vinegar dressing seasoned with a dash of Angostura bitters, salt and freshly ground pepper.

Guest From Germany

Mrs. Lorilott Clark was at the San Francisco airport Tuesday to meet her cousin and lifelong friend, Christine von Mitzlaff-Laeisz, whom she last saw in 1963 when they met on the French Riviera. Mrs. Clark will show her guest from Germany the sights of San Francisco and the Bay Area before entertaining her in Carmel. The visitor is a member of an old Hamburg family famed for its plantations and ships, which were among the last of the great sailing vessels to be kept in use on the high seas.

Ginny Mitchell Was Here

Former Carmelite Mrs. Virginia Mitchell and her daughter, Greta, were guests at the Jim Campbell's home over the Halloween weekend but found time too short to see all of their old friends here. Mrs. Mitchell, a former psychiatric social worker in this area, is now a consultant for the city of Berkeley.

Since Jim's birthday falls on Halloween, special spooky preparations were made, unknown to him, for a proper surprise celebration in his honor.

En Route To Argentina

The Chase-Manhattan Bank of New York doesn't seem quite as much like the Rock of Gibraltar when one's son-in-law is employed in the bank's Santo Domingo branch in the violent Dominican Republic. So it has been a particularly happy time for Mr. and Mrs. Charles McHarry to have him and their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Scarce, bring the couple's little daughter, Lauren, for a visit before the Scarces depart for their new post in Buenos Aires.

Evacuated from Santo Domingo at the end of April, Gail Scarce and Lauren were in Puerto Rico for three months and, the family reunited, have been in New York for the last three months.

The McHarrys, who were Carmel Valley residents for some time, re-established their home in Carmel in September.

International Hostesses

No small addition to the wine-tasting preview party given by Mr. and Mrs. Linden Leavitt Jr. at the American Federation of Arts Gallery on Sunday were the gracious foreign students from Monterey Peninsula College who served as hostesses for the opening of the exhibit of the Leavitts' collection of Ethiopian paintings.

Semret Dessalegne, who was Dr. Leavitt's secretary during the two years he was dean of the Haile Selassie II University in Addis Ababa, invited her MPC classmates to assist her, Mrs. Leavitt and the Leavitts' daughter, Linden Frances, in serving the guests. The trio was garbed in Ethiopian dress. The other hostesses, each wearing a costume of her own country, were Lusita Gonzales of the Philippines, Sung Ja Lee of Korea, Paew Thaewthithong of Thailand, Cherry Lou of Hong Kong and Caroline McKean of India.

Happy Grandmother

Mrs. Marie Fry has had the pleasure of caring for her granddaughter, Jacqueline Corsaut, since the birth of the busy, little two and-a-half year old's new sister, Susan Kathleen. Susan, born at Community Hospital on November 5, is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Corsaut of Pacific Grove. Alfred G. Fry of Pebble Beach is her grandfather.

The new baby's uncle, Timmy Fry, is a sophomore at the University of Oregon.

Ventana Chapter Of Sierra Club To Show Arizona Desert Film

"The Voice of the Desert," a one-hour sound and color film, by one of the country's most distinguished naturalists and writers, Joseph Wood Krutch, will be a highlight of the Fall dinner meeting of the Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club to be held on November 18 at Mission Ranch. The film introduces the viewer to the sights and sounds of the Arizona desert and concludes with a "plea" to use the desert in its own way.

All members of the Ventana Chapter, and their guests, are invited to the meeting which will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner, introduction of the newly elected members to the executive committee of the chapter and presentation of the film. For further information and/or reservations, telephone Roger Greenwald, 373-2768 (days) or 372-1377 (evenings).

The Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club, with its over 500 members throughout Monterey County, has as its purpose, that of the parent club, "to explore, enjoy, and preserve the Sierra Nevada and other scenic resources of the United States and its forests, waters, wildlife, and wilderness . . . and to enlist public interest and cooperation in protecting them."

GUEST SPEAKER SUNDAY AT ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

Rabbi Maurice Lazewick of Temple Beth-El, Santa Cruz, will be the guest speaker at All Saints' Episcopal Church on Sunday at 10 a.m., it is announced by the Reverend David Hill, rector of the church.

Rabbi Lazewick will address members of the congregation and guests following the 9 a.m. Parish Eucharist and preceding the 11 o'clock morning prayer service. He will discuss the differences between Orthodox, Liberal and Reformed Judaism; also the Jewish use of scripture and the relationship of Jews to non-Jews. Questions will be welcomed during the discussion period.

Baste every 15 minutes with the sauce. Roast for 30 minutes a pound. For the final hour turn up the heat to give a nice bronzed finish. It may be possible during the holiday season to purchase Mr. Stuyvesant Fish's wild boar hams and bacon, but otherwise it will be necessary to buy a quarter of a boar at Palo Corona Ranch and have it cut into pieces. The hams and bacon may be smoked.

The following is the invention of Mr. Fish's game manager and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Coleman.

ARLENE'S SEVEN-UP BOAR ROAST

Have a six-pound piece of rump shoulder wild boar roast. Start oven at 250 F. Salt and pepper the roast and sprinkle it with crushed bay leaves. Baste every 15 or 20 minutes with Seven-Up. Water seems to evaporate while the carbonated beverage rotates around the roast and saturates into it, keeping the rather lean meat moist. Most wild boar tend to be somewhat dry. Put some wild boar (or ordinary) bacon on top. Wild boar are leaner than most hogs. They are equally good served hot or cold. For the brunch cold sliced wild boar is an exciting taste thrill. Major Grey's Chutney and Mustard Chow-chow complement the chef d'oeuvre.

The Bartons Visited

If Bob and Erica Barton (artist Erica Franke), now San Jose residents, have been seen less frequently than usual in Carmel, it is because they are both hard at work in their respective fields. Bob has just passed his oral examination for his Ph.D. degree in Medieval English literature at Stanford. Erica, always at work fulfilling commissions for her beautiful and intricate pictures in tile, is absorbed at the moment with an enormous panel inspired by jazz and jazz musicians.

However, the couple and their three children, Jessica, Sabrina and Adam, found time to spend several days last week end at the home of Bob's mother, Mrs. George Dunbaugh, and to visit Erica's mother, Mrs. B. B. Simpson.

Mary Mullaly A Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boardman Mullaly of Carmel have announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary Ellen, to Gary Lowell Clowers, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell C. Clowers Jr. of Tacoma, Washington.

The young couple's wedding took place in a simple ceremony at the County Courthouse in Corvallis, Oregon, on October 22.

The bride, who graduated from Los Altos High School, is in her freshman year at Oregon State College in Corvallis. She is the sister of Mrs. Richard Masien of Stockton. Arthur Lawrence Mullaly of Los Altos Hills, and Valerie Mullaly of Carmel.

Gary attended Washington State University and is now in technical aircraft service at Fort Ord.

A Son For The Reads

At 14 months, Christopher Scott Read is a little dubious about the addition of a rival in his home and has taken to chomping happily on his mother's arm to get his usual share of attention. However, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Read, are more than satisfied with their second son, Steven Michael, who arrived at Community Hospital on October 28.

Steven's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ruud of San Francisco and Mrs. Pearl Read of Columbus, Ohio.

Fehrings In New Mexico

Sightseeing and parties are on the agenda for Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fehring this week during their visit with their daughter, Joy, and her husband, Lieutenant Gordon Roberts, at the young couple's present home at White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico. Joy and Gordon were married here at the Church of the Wayfarer last June.

Enroute to New Mexico, the Fehrings stopped over for a few days in Los Angeles to see relatives and to allow Mr. Fehring to referee at the U.C.L.A.-University of Washington football game. On Saturday, he will referee another game in Los Angeles before returning to Carmel.

New Sand-Castler

As soon as they have him in shape, Lieutenant and Mrs. Dennis Fier will put their new son, Joseph Nelson, in training for the next Sand Castle contest, providing, of course, his young brother, Dennis Jr., hasn't taken command. The new baby, who was born November 1, was sort of an unknown quantity in the way of a mascot for the "Fermassiss" group which won the grand prize this year on Carmel beach for the "grandest" castle.

The future sand-architect is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Miera Jr. of Albuquerque, New Mexico (grandmother has been here to see her two grandsons), and of Mrs. Mildred Fier of Lindsborg, Kansas. His father is due to get his degree in engineering electronics from the Naval Postgraduate School in May.

Finishes Fort Ord Course

Private John C. Ley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston J. Ley of Carmel, completed an eight-week food service course under the reserve enlistment program at Fort Ord, on Friday of last week.

During the course, he received instruction in the preparation and serving of food in military kitchens and in the field.

The 23-year-old soldier is a 1959 graduate of Carmel High School and attended Monterey Peninsula College.

Social Group Formed

An organizational dinner meeting of a recently-formed Peninsula social group will be held at the Smorgastable in Seaside on November 19. The as-yet-unnamed organization has been formed by a number of professional and business men and women who believe a need exists to provide contact for unattached people over 30 — single, divorced, parents-without-partners, etc.—who may find companionship through common interests.

The first "Get Together and Get Acquainted" event was a no-host cocktail party at a Monterey restaurant on Sunday, at which time a name contest was initiated and further information regarding organization and future events were discussed. Since the project is so new, present members welcome suggestions.

A social hour, beginning at 6:30 p.m., will precede dinner at 7 p.m. on November 19, when the name contest winner will be announced. For reservations or further information, please phone Claudine Van Fleet (624-8170).

Stockton Is New Home

Stockton is the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edward Frates III, the former Carla Jean Wagenman, who were married at Carmel Mission Basilica on October 23 in an afternoon ceremony performed by the Reverend Roger Dieudonne.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wagenman of Carmel, Carla graduated from Carmel High School and attended the University of California at Berkeley, where she was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Her husband, who also attended the University of California, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Edward Frates Jr. of Stockton and South Orange, New Jersey. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

The couple will eventually make their home in San Francisco when the bridegroom is transferred to that city by the Pacific Telephone Company where he is employed in the advertising department.

Steven Gann Here

Following completion of basic training at Fort Ord, Steven Gann has been enjoying a leave at the home of his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Gann of Pebble Beach. He reports again to the local base tomorrow for further training there before assignment to another area.

CLUB XIX

The classic cuisine of Tuscany is served at Raffaello's in Club XIX at Del Monte Lodge. A New Granddaughter

Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw Williams are delighted with their new granddaughter, Celia Abigail Meyer, who was born at the Berkeley home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Meyer (AMce Williams), on October 29. Celia's excited sister and brother, Cynthia and Nathaniel, had the unusual experience and pleasure of holding the new baby before she was many hours old. Also on hand awaiting the baby's arrival was her uncle, Boz Williams, now living with the Meyers while attending the University of California.

Mrs. Williams spent a week in Berkeley lending a helping hand in the busy household.

Stationed In Florida

First Lieutenant Daniel E. Layton, son of retired Rear Admiral and Mrs. E. T. Layton of Carmel Highlands, has completed the rigorous U.S. Air Force survival and special training course conducted by the Air Training Command at Stead AFB, Nevada.

The lieutenant, a pilot, is being assigned to MacDill AFB, Florida. He is a member of the Tactical Air Command which provides combat reconnaissance, aerial firepower and assault airlift for U.S. Army forces. He received his B.A. degree from the University of California at Berkeley where he was a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Mrs. Charles Sumner Greene

Private services were held Monday for Mrs. Alice Gordon Greene, a deeply respected and beloved figure in Carmel for almost 50 years, who died November 4 at her home on Lincoln near Thirteenth Street.

Mrs. Greene, a native of England, was 95 years of age. She came to Carmel in 1916 with her late husband, architect Charles Sumner Greene, who was internationally recognized for his California style of architecture and was considered a forerunner to Frank Lloyd Wright. He was awarded the highest honor of the American Institute of Architects, along with his brother, Henry Mather Greene, in formulating this new architectural concept.

A moving spirit in the formation of the Carmel Music Society and the Bach Festival, Mrs. Greene lent unfailing support to the musical life of the community. She was a gracious hostess for the famed as well as the less well known in the world of music, and the studio, designed by her famed husband and built in the garden of the Greene home, was a focal point in the musical life of Carmel. Here Mrs. Greene extended loving greetings to friends, who delighted not only in music but also in Mr. Greene's unique carvings which decorated the studio and furnishings which he had created.

It would be impossible to determine how many talents were encouraged by Mrs. Greene's perception and warmth, how many lives enriched by her gentle, intensely-aware personality.

The garden which surrounded her home was a special joy to her and she tended it herself as long as she was able.

Her five children grew up in Carmel and their friends were always welcomed to the informal house on Lincoln Street by Mrs. Greene, who often served them the bread she baked, hot from the oven, in her big family kitchen. She was equally known, too, for the cakes she baked and often contributed to community affairs.

Mrs. Greene leaves two sons, Nathaniel Patrickson Greene of Monterey and Thomas Gordon Greene of Carmel Valley; three daughters, Miss Bettie Greene of Carmel, Mrs. Anne Roberts of Spokane, Washington, and Mrs. Alice Sumner Tait of London, England; five grandchildren; Philip Gordon Greene of San Francisco, Jane Roberts of Spokane, Mrs. Susan Clark of Seattle, Grace "Penny" Penha of Carmel, and Mrs. Betty Wier of Whitmore; and several great-grandchildren. She is also survived by a sister, Miss Jane Storey White of Atascadero.

Memorial services were conducted at Mission Mortuary chapel by the Reverend David Hill of All Saints' Episcopal Church. Private inurnment followed.

Friends wishing to offer contributions in memory of Mrs. Greene may do so through gifts to the charities of their choice.

Stamp Club's 16th Anniversary Dinner

The annual dinner and inauguration of officers of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club will take place on Monday in the Crystal Room at Pine Inn. The occasion marks the 16th anniversary of the founding of the club, which is a chapter of the American Philatelic Society.

Guest of honor and speaker for the evening will be Jack Bettencourt, president of the Council of Northern California Philatelic Societies and for many years a collector of air mail philately with particular emphasis on Lindberghiana.

The following officers are to be installed: Dr. Paul A. Gliebe of Carmel, president; William R. Coats of Pebble Beach and Eugene Zimmerman of Pacific Grove, vice presidents; Mrs. John C. Buchanan of Pacific Grove, secretary; and Fred Starr of Carmel Valley, treasurer.

The club meets regularly in the faculty room of Carmel High School on the first and third Mondays of every month at 8:00 p.m. All interested adult stamp collectors are invited. For Monday dinner reservations please phone Mr. Starr (659-4010).

Art News...

The board of directors of the Carmel Art Association has issued invitations for an Autumn cocktail-buffet party on Saturday. Festivities will be held at the association's galleries from 5:30-8 p.m. The Fall and Spring parties for members and invited guests provide an opportunity for Peninsula artists to meet socially, as well as for other members, guests, and city officials to meet the artists in the delightful atmosphere of informal hospitality which prevails at these affairs.

An invitational preview of a show of still life paintings by Max Fitzpatrick was given on Sunday at the Luciano exhibition room in Cypress West Hotel.

This San Francisco artist has had one-man shows in Texas, Paris, Rome and Mexico City. His work has been included in group exhibits in New York, Dallas, San Antonio and San Francisco and the permanent collection of the Witte Museum in San Antonio, Texas, includes his painting.

He received his training in this country at the Art Students League in New York, also in Guatemala and Texas. He was awarded a scholarship to study in Europe by the Marion Koogler McNay Art Institute in San Antonio and attended Academie de la Grande Chaumiere in Paris and studied under Carlos Socrates in Rome.

On exhibition at the American Federation of Arts Gallery are paintings collected in all parts of Ethiopia by Dr. Linden Leavitt Jr. when he was dean of the extension service of Haile Selassie University in Addis Ababa from 1962-64. They reflect bold old and new forms of church decoration, the only source of true folk painting in this African country. Some of the older paintings date from the 16th century while some of the newer ones were commissioned by Dr. Leavitt. There is no admission charge and the public is invited to view the show Mondays through Fridays, 11 a.m.-5 p.m., and on Saturdays, 2-5 p.m., through November 30.

Paintings by Elwood Graham are on view at the Carmel Foundation Town House during this month. The well-known Peninsula artist is represented in the collections of such public institutions as the Whitney Museum of American Art, New York, the De Young Museum in San Francisco, the Chicago Art Institute and the Brazilian Embassy in Washington, D.C., and by hundreds of paintings in private collections.

WORLD AFFAIRS COUNCIL TALK ON PAKISTAN

Rashid Ahmad, consul general of Pakistan in San Francisco, will discuss "Pakistan's View" for members of the Monterey Peninsula World Affairs Council tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. in Brey Hall at Carmel High School. He will be accompanied on his visit here by his wife and three children.

After joining the Pakistan foreign service in 1950, Mr. Ahmad served in his country's missions in Damascus, Bonn, New Delhi, Paris and Bangkok. He was director in the foreign office in Karachi from 1961-63 and counselor at the Pakistan Embassy in Washington, D.C. before coming to San Francisco where he holds the rank of minister.

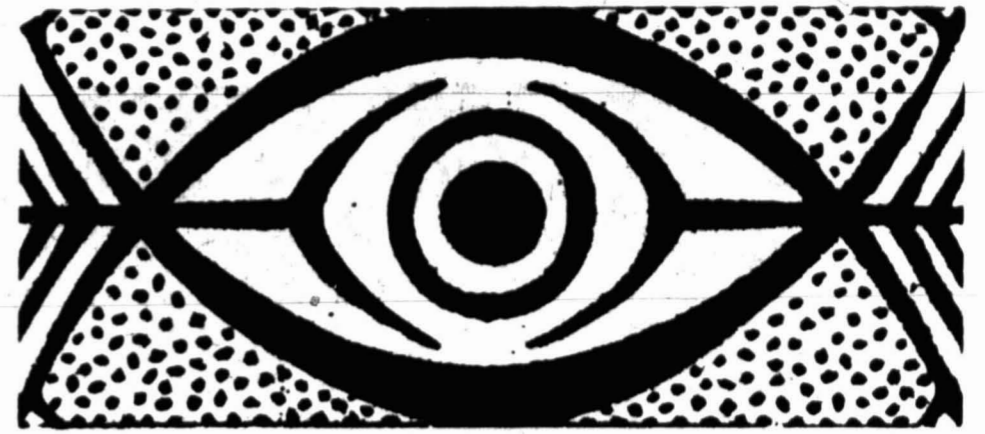

TALK ON CHILDREN'S BOOKS FOR CARMEL WOMAN'S CLUB

"How to lead a child to books and how do you choose a book?" This will be the topic which Martha Bruggeman of The Magic Fishbone will discuss at the Carmel Woman's Club meeting on Monday.

After years of teaching in schools and courses taken on children's literature, Mrs. Bruggeman decided to open a store dealing exclusively with the children's world of books. She now enjoys a worldwide reputation with requests coming from mothers in Africa, Alaska and Okinawa who have complete confidence in her choice of literature for children.

Tea will be served following the meeting.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel 624-3881.

UTILITY RATES HERE ARE AMONG THE LOWEST IN THE NATION!!

It's true! The annual survey of the California Public Utilities Commission, just released, shows that the combined monthly charges for natural gas, electric and telephone service in San Francisco are the lowest of the 25 largest cities in the nation. PG&E rates in other cities are correspondingly low! Because providing you with dependable gas and electric service at low rates is our most important job, we're mighty proud to take this means of reporting to you that we're doing it better than ever.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

BIG SUR TO NAPA VALLEY

Frederick and Lynn Parson of Big Sur and their sons, Larry, a senior, and Steve, a sophomore, at Carmel High School, are moving early next week to their new home in Napa Valley. Mr. Parson, a member of the California State Park System stationed at Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park, is being transferred to Bothe-Napa Valley State Park situated on State Highway 12, half way between Calistoga and St. Helena.

"Fred" and Lynn Parson, native Californians and both reared in the Vallejo area, have come to know the gently rolling country of Napa Valley noted for its prosperous and beautiful grape vineyards and wineries—so for them it is somewhat of a "home-coming."

Bothe-Napa Valley State Park is one of the newer parks under the jurisdiction of the Division of Beaches and Parks. It has only been in operation for about three years and maintains a small staff, with limited and partially developed camping and picnic facilities. It is a foothill park, comprising some 1,500 acres of low hill country, filled with an abundance of oak, madrone and Douglas fir trees and a continuously flowing creek through the large acreage. The name "Bothe" comes from the former owner of the property, and nearby riding stables. Numerous riding trails are available for park visitors.

Mr. Parson is a former member of the U.S. Air Force, and after serving his country, he became associated with the Kaiser Company as an engineering draftsman. Then nine years ago he joined the State Park Service and had as his first assignment, Portola State Park. Five and one-half years ago the Parsons were transferred to Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park where they have become well-known for their active and enthusiastic participation in the events and concerns of the community.

'A LOVELIER AMERICA'

"A happier and lovelier America, by design"—these words describe a handsome photograph of a view along the Sur Coast, looking southward from Bixby Creek from the dining area of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Atkinson, situated as it is, high on a coastal bluff. The photograph appears in a recent issue of the AIA Journal, the official magazine of The American Institute of Architects, and is from a portfolio by photographer Julius Shulman. Mr. Shulman's photographs, included in an article entitled "Project: Environment USA," were originally planned by the Architectural Panel of Los Angeles and hung at the Octagon House, the national headquarters of the AIA.

The Atkinson home, designed by Gregory Ain, AIA architect, is described further in the article as a house that "beckons to sea, sky and land, inviting them in. It represents, at once, shelter and continual communion with nature."

JOHN HILTON—DESERT ARTIST

John Hilton, considered the foremost, contemporary painter of the American desert, was honored in a unique ceremony last Saturday in his home town of Twenty-Nine Palms. Present for the ceremony and reception that followed were your Sur Coast correspondent and family, friends of John Hilton and his wife, Barbara, for many years.

The occasion, which coincided with a one-man show of oils by Mr. Hilton, was for the purpose of dedicating a bronze tablet bearing a full-face image of the artist and inscribed "John Hilton, artist, author, naturalist, founding president of the Twenty-Nine Palms Artists Guild." The bas-relief plaque was formed by Steve Zakian, distinguished sculptor of Los Angeles.

A concert by the U.S. Marine Corps Band preceded the afternoon ceremonies which were held in the patio of the Twenty-Nine Palms Art Gallery and under a dazzling, sun-drenched desert sky.

On the program was Brigadier General William K. Jones in charge of the U.S. Marine Base at Twenty-Nine Palms, who directed his remarks to Mr. Hilton's contributions to the armed forces during World War II. General Jones began by saying that "we are here to honor a great man living in our midst" and he expressed appreciation for the fact that through this artist many have come to see "the wealth of beauty that is in our desert." During the war, John Hilton was a civilian advisor to General John S. Patton, and was so because of his unquestioned knowledge of the desert country—a knowledge that had been gained by living on the desert, travelling in it on foot with burro, auto and jeep. He knows its isolation, its beauty, and has learned how the desert can serve man by recognizing natural resources that can serve man's needs. He knows how to survive under seemingly impossible conditions of heat, sand and wind.

Three times the government of the United States has commissioned John Hilton to do series of paintings of government installations throughout the world. These paintings are now a part of the permanent collection of the U.S. Air Force. Only last year, John Hilton (assisted by Bill Bender, an outstanding desert artist who was also on the program honoring Mr. Hilton) was sent to the Far East by the U.S. Air Force for further commissions.

John Hilton, who is a member of the highly coveted Salmagundi Club, America's oldest and most respected art club, and who has numbers of one-man shows throughout the country each year, including an annual appearance at the Grand Central Art Galleries in New York, is also an author. His is a delightful volume "Sonora Sketch Book," in which he says, "This is my desert! It extends through Arizona, Southern California, Nevada, Southern Utah, New Mexico and the northern Mexican states of Sonora, Chihuahua, Sinaloa and Baja California."

"It is as if nature herself has set aside these vast areas and protected them from the ravages of civilizations so that thinking men might have a place where they might go to regain their perspective and find themselves and their true meaning."

Circle Theatre Fields A Lively 'Comedy Of Errors' Production

BY DOROTHY REED

Anyone whose acquaintance with Shakespeare's work derives from the choices made in the schoolroom or on television should definitely see "The Comedy of Errors" at the Circle Theatre for a sample of the Bard as pure entertainer. It is one of his very earliest plays, a pot-boiler perhaps, but with no involved character studies or historical events to get in the way of the comedy. Earthy, witty dialog and slapstick action move the play along at a gay clip after a slow first scene.

The story was old when the playwright was young. He adapted it from a tale by Plautus about the double set of identical twins, slaves and masters, who were separated in infancy by shipwreck and came together after 25 years on the same day in the same city, causing confusion bordering on hysteria. It was a good choice of plots—Rodgers and Hart picked it up as "The Boys from Syracuse" in 1938, and after a year's run it went to the movies and then to a Broadway revival in 1963.

Without benefit of singing, the Circle fields a lively production under the direction of Frederick Rider. The ingenious use of masks to produce identity really works, and it takes a careful eye and a keen ear to distinguish who is who. Nick Zanides and Dick Bird seem to have a slight edge in charisma over Peter Kuehn and Norman McPhee, but it is very slight. They are all agile and effective.

Stephen Smith and Lucy Page Allen executed the masks with imagination and flair.

April Edwards as Adriana, wife of one of the Antipholuses (Antipholi?) is pretty and a bit mild-mannered for her rather shrewish role; Jonne-Marie Feiten sparkles as her puzzled sister who seems to be courted by her brother-in-law—and is not 100 percent displeased by the prospect. Ruth Crews plays a courtesan with her usual infectious ebullience. We can't resist imagining this production with Miss Edwards and Miss Crews exchanging roles, turning the wife into a real hellion and the courtesan into a seductive rival.

The supporting characters are many. Horace L. Upshaw makes a dignified but not unsympathetic duke and Regina Hicks, as the mother to whom husband and sons are restored after all the years, plays her final scene with moving radiance.

One effect of inexperienced cast members, perhaps, is that when standing silent and motionless they simply turn off. We are sure we spotted director Frederick Rider playing a couple of uncredited parts through just this quality of continuous projection that distinguishes the actor from the amateur. Where the others seem to have parked their bodies and left, so to speak, Rider gives the impression of being still there with the motor running.

A very simple stage setting throughout the play proves remarkably effective in its versatility, and the inevitable blocking problems, created by the need to be fair to audiences on all four sides, are in the main very well handled. Perhaps the lighting level is a bit high or its color a little cold, but somehow the whole theatre has a scruffy look that adds nothing to the tone of the performance. It says much for the competence of the cast that as the play moves on this impression is transcended.

"The Comedy of Errors" will continue on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings through December 19. Special rates may be arranged for groups.

GOURMET GALAXY NOVEMBER 18

Gourmet Galaxy, a pre-holiday cooking presentation, will be held at the Monterey Fairgrounds Exhibition Hall November 18 as the Fall project of Mother Goose Chapter, Children's Home Society. At 10 a.m., coffee and home-made rolls will be served and star-studded prizes given away. The free cooking demonstration at 11 a.m. will feature Thelma Fahrenkrog, Pacific Gas and Electric Company cooking demonstrator.

Donations will be $1.50 for the coffee hour and reservations for the event may be made with Mrs. Harry Bullard (624-4428) or Mrs. Robert Adkins (375-8498).

double columns were bumper to bumper all through the business district but in the block between San Carlos and Dolores there were three empty parking spaces that no one wanted.

All the business about closing up Red Eagle Lane may be just a gambit to gain a monopoly on the blackberries which ripen along the buildings on the northside of the alley. Maybe the owner of the Paint Pot has found that Carmel's population explosion is limiting his preserves.

Those Carmel Gangsters from Clovis were pretty disappointed about not winning a second gold shovel grand prize in the sand castle contest. One of them was heard to mutter that next year they'd stage a sit-in—"a sit in every castle protest."

Mrs. Blanche Klaus wishes that Police Chief Clyde Klummann "would put something in the paper about dogs and their deposits in the business area." Here you are Clyde! I did it for you.

Latest communication from Dorothy von Meier, the planning commission's poet laureate, and chairman when she's at home in Carmel, is from Berlin.

"Ach, du lieber Augustine," here I am

In Berlin on the Kurfurstendamm

The linden leaves have begun to fall

And one cannot ignore that wall.

The oaks and maples turn red and gold

As nature's wonder starts to unfold

But Berlin's abustle with music and wealth

With wines and beers to toast one's health.

Tenors sing lieder and basses with gusto

Storm out Wagner to sopranos-robusto

While herrs and frauleins applaud, (to forget

The fate that half their city has met?)

Fountains play, Mercedes-Benzes gleam

Luscious pastries are slathered with cream

The Schlachtensee's blue — the shop girls laugh

And Brandenburg Gate hides the other half.

(Going to East Berlin tomorrow —Hope I get back.)

So do we, Dorothy

Protest note: A Peninsula artist who was recently rejected for membership in the Carmel Art Association has announced that he will burn three of his paintings in front of the association gallery on an unspecified date.

Today is Philip's turn. Today is Gerald's turn. "Today is Teresa's turn." And so on read the cards placed daily in front of the honest-to-goodness chicken drumstick in the window of The Wells bookstore. If the morsel begins to look a little moth-eaten, remember there are 20 Beardsley children's names for this unique promotional display in reply to "Who Gets the Drumstick?" the title of the book written by the mother of Carmel's largest family.

Supervisor Tom Hudson rode a horse to the gate of the Palo Corona Ranch on Saturday to greet Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon. He was a fine figure of a California rancher complete with Stetson and all, and was accompanied by his young daughter, Sally, also on horseback, who had a bouquet to present to the visiting British princess.

Two of Tom's lady supporters spotted him.

"Look," said one, "there's Tom Hudson!"

"Yes," remarked the other "riding Humble Oil."

Another member of the Hudson family, with a friend, had been out birdwatching since 6 a.m. Before noon, one of those noisy helicopters buzzed near them and announced that they must leave for security reasons because the princess was coming.

"But I'm on my own land," indignantly replied the member of the Hudson family whose Point Lobos Ranch adjoins that of Palo Corona Ranch where the princess was to have lunch.

And while Meg and Tony visited, there was another celebration on the hilltop across the valley at Carmel High School. On the football field, the Stars and Stripes atop the flagpole were silhouetted against the Fish Ranch. Carmel's red jerseys and Gilroy's blue ones, with the team's white pants were very patriotic looking too. So were the red and white uniforms of the songleaders and cheerleaders of Carmel and the corresponding blue and white ones of Gilroy. The blue jackets of the Middle School contrasted with the red in the Carmel High School Band uniforms. Then out came Carmel High School's Homecoming Queen, Patsy Porter, in a white dress to be honored by the band at half time, and attended by red-clad princesses.

John Farr, at the microphone announced that, in Patsy's honor, the band would play "Aint She Sweet."

"Also to honor the British royalty on the hill across from us," he added.

That was something Princess Margaret missed. And it was too bad, especially since Lord Snowdon had said he wanted to see an American football game. Just think, he could have had the fun of seeing Carmel trounce Gilroy on what is easily the most beautiful high school football field in California.

FIRE CALLS

Approximately $50 damage to a Ford pick-up truck, parked on Junipero between Third and Fourth, resulted last night from a fire caused by the ignition of oily rags in the vehicle's interior. The Carmel Volunteer Fire Department, called at 10:27 p.m., extinguished the blaze. Owner of the truck is Bill Hall of Carmel Valley.

In response to a general alarm at 12:10 a.m. Tuesday, firemen extinguished a fire started by a smoldering cigarette in a unit of Hotel La Playa Annex. Damage to a rug and the floor was estimated at $250.

visitor and her husband, stopped briefly at Del Monte Lodge, Cypress Point Golf Club and the Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula. They were impressed by the beauty of the indigenous Monterey cypress and pine trees on the coast and along the roadsides.

Because of their interest in architecture, they photographed Carmel Mission and the van Loben Sels house designed by Frank Lloyd Wright. A full moon beautified the Community Hospital when they arrived there but prevented them from photographing the building designed by Edward Stone. In Pebble Beach, the visitors took pictures of sea lions on Bird Rock just before sunset.

Their host, Stuyvesant Fish, served local delicacies at the luncheon he gave for Princess Margaret and her husband. Featured was a wild boar raised on Palo Corona Ranch and barbecued whole in a pit. With it were served prawns from Carmel Bay and artichokes from the Odello Ranch beside Carmel River. Mr. Fish invited his neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Odello and Mr. and Mrs. Emilio Odello, who gave him the artichokes served at the luncheon, to meet Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon. Also invited was another neighbor, Mrs. Thomson Jay Hudson of Point Lobos Ranch. Her husband, Monterey County Supervisor Tom Hudson, rode a horse to Palo Corona Ranch gate to welcome the visitors. He was accompanied by his daughter, Sally, who carried a bouquet of roses, gathered from the gardens of neighboring ranchers, to present to the princess.

Mr. and Mrs. Enos Fouratt of Carmel and Mrs. Fouratt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Baker, also were among those asked to meet the visitors before the luncheon, as was, too, Mrs. Lucinda Lloyd Williams.

Invited by Mr. Fish to sit with Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon at luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. F. Robert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Carver, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunt Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne, Dr. and Mrs. Edmund von Hasseln, Captain and Mrs. Leonard Kirby, Captain Selby McCreery and Gorham Knowles.

Mrs. Henry Rathbun returned to Washington, D.C., on Monday after serving as her stepbrother's official hostess at the party.

During the whole time it was going on, the U.S. State Department had a helicopter circling the ranch to guard against intruders and a throng of representatives of various news media waited at the gate on Highway One. When Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon left for the drive they remember as one of the most beautiful they have ever taken, newsmen followed. Each time they stopped, still cameras clicked and television cameras rolled to record their visit here for the United States and other nations.

The Rhyming Philosopher

By Harry W. Fletcher

No. 130

It isn't what you say that counts
But what you really do;
And empty promises that bounce
Reverberate on you.

Some politicians squirm and squawk
And deftly toss the bull,
While others waste our time to talk
Of things impossible.

How often parents promise kids
That this or that shall be;
Then wonder why kids flip their lids
At later treachery.

Though infants love a nursery rhyme
And lovers dote on dreaming;
Two nickels always make a dime,
While leveling beats scheming.

The Carmel High School band, in its red and grey uniforms, will play stirring tunes all through the game, led by John Farr. When they march onto the field at half-time, Drum Major Carl Cecka will be in the lead flanked by two majorettes, Sandy Updike and Luanne Buckam.

Carmel's roly-poly mascot, The Padre, will be all over the sidelines and the field. Under his grinning papier mache head will be Karen Eisenhauer or Kay Macagno.

In addition to the two captains, players who will valiantly strive to capture "The Shoe" tomorrow night are Rich Oleson, Craig Cunningham, Steve Hall, Kim Roberts, Don DeAmaral, Packy Porter, Van Yates, Roger Folden, John Otter, David Edwards, David Armanasco, Dennis Jones, Roger Gardner, Ken Donahue, Dave Erickson, Mike Stapleton, Bard Sherman, David Partridge, Stewart McKenzie, Tim Head, Jerry Forsman, Jack Argust, Red San-

to achieve "self-concept" which they lack.

Steven Sassoon, another trustee, was of the opinion that these students should be motivated to the academic system as "it is the last time many will have this opportunity."

Chairman Dr. Robert Newton favored improvement of outstanding efforts presently being made "instead of experimenting."

Trustee Clayton Neill Jr. asked Mr. Edwards if there were specific areas in which the board could help Mr. Edwards—another counselor, or a symposium.

Mrs. Roxana Blanks stated that her thought on the matter, as a trustee, was that the disenchanted high school students should be reached earlier in the school system and that the present overall educational program of the Carmel district was geared to accomplish this.

The total high school program has a 65 percent achievement record, Mr. Edwards told the board. He has a "good staff but not the best." There are "shining lights" who provide excellence in the academic area which is better than average in a lot of spots.

"My major concern is how to go after the undetermined number of students we are not reaching. I want the best," he concluded.

Mr. Edwards also reported to the board last night on class sizes at the high school many of which are larger than desirable. The school now offers 110 courses. After school opened this year, 66 percent of the students changed either content or times of courses. The administration shifted 100 students. These changes led to overloading of some classes, he reported, and the solution to this problem is more teaching staff.

To meet state requirements for the education of 16 and 17-year-old "drop-out" students, also potential drop-outs, the school board last night appointed Mr. Edwards as principal of a "continuation education program." This program will be financed with federal funds, also state funds at the rate of $125 per unit of average daily attendance. Garry Anloff was employed as the teacher for this program which will, at present enroll four students. These students will attend classes from 8-11:45 a.m. daily. Parents are required to have their children attend these classes, designed primarily to develop educational motivation, or be liable to fines or imprisonment.

The pine on Dolores has, indeed, struggled against odds, too, in its fight to beautify the city. The flourishing young trees south of it show just what a survival battle the Saidee van Brower pine has experienced. Now the council has asked the forestry commission to discover how these trees may have companions, even if they are planted in sidewalk boxes.

The new pines, too, might well be dedicated to members of this community who have striven to preserve its beauty.

In September of 1960, the Pine Cone planted two pines in front of its new building in the block on Dolores south of where it had formerly been located. One of these pines is the Peter Mawdsley pine, dedicated to the now retired city clerk who so ably succeeded Saidee van Brower. The other is dedicated to the late Fred Bechdolt, a Carmel author, who served the city as councilman and postmaster, as well as, from the earliest days of the town, in many other capacities. Each pine enhances the character of Carmel which is so dependent on people like Peter, "Bech" and Saidee . . . also trees.
